

EDITOR'S NOTE

Rafael Guimarães Tavares da Silva is a professor of Literature at the State University of Ceará, Aracati campus, with research interests and insertions related to Literature, History and Philosophy - both ancient and contemporary. He is a scholar of the Greek world and has been concerned with the history and epistemological specificities of Classical Studies in Brazil. In the dossier now published by Heródoto and organized by him, he brings together scholars with the same concern, offering us, at the end, a document (of limited access and considerably unknown) by Agostinho da Silva, entitled Teorética cabocla da filologia clássica. In this document, of particular interest, among other issues, Agostinho da Silva (who signs with the heteronym Mateus-Maria Guadalupe) deals with the establishment of Classical Studies at UNB and in Brazil, constituting an important source for the understanding of the constitution of this field in our country.

We wish you all an excellent reading of the published contributions.

Sincerely,

Glaydson José da Silva/Filipe Noé da Silva
